

September Thirtieth,
1958

My dear Dr. Russell:

As a Trustee of the University of Chicago, and as a faithful and enthusiastic reader of your books, I want to add my word of welcome as you begin your lecture course.

The University is fortunate in obtaining your distinguished services.

Sincerely yours,

Dr. Bertrand Russell,
The University of Chicago,
Chicago, Illinois.
