"It is of particular pleasure to honour Cyrus Eaton on the occasion of his eightieth birthday. He has worked with great dedication for the cause of peace and at some sacrifice to himself. Without doubt, the Movement of Pugwash Scientists would have been unable to achieve what it has, were it not for his personal assistance and involvement in that important work. His is a very noble example of the responsibilities of people in an age when the very survival of mankind is in doubt."

With good wishes,

Yours sincerely,

Bertrand Russell

My Lord:

Your generous message gave me the greatest joy on my 80th birthday, especially because it came from the most distinguished pioneer in the all important movement to create a peaceful international climate through meetings between leading scientists of East and West. That the name of my native village should be associated with this monumental work is the source of deepest satisfaction to me.

With warmest thanks and all good wishes to you, as you continue to lead the world in carrying the torch for peace,

Sincerely yours,

The Earl Russell
